Mr. Speaker Robinson called the House to order at 3 p. m.

Mr. Jones, of Caldwell, moved to indefinitely postpone the bill pending, with the morning session adjourned, leaving the bill to the Senate.

Mr. Bryan, of Alleghany, favored the motion to postpone.

Mr. Michael, of Davidson, opposed

the motion to postpone.

Mr. McGeehee was in favor of keeping the property of the State to replace the fund donated by Congress to the University whenever the demand should be made by Congress.

Mr. Waugh hoped that the motion to postpone would not prevail, but that the bill should pass, and that the fund raised by the sale of the lots appropriated to common schools.

The motion to indefinitely postpone prevailed, ayas 58, nays 43.

The Clerk read the special order, being Senate bill, in addition to the Western Division of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company. After the adoption of several amendments, the bill passed its third and fourth readings.

Mr. Gorman favored the amendment.

The amendment was lost. The bill was then tabled, ayas 52, nays 2.

Mr. Gudgeon moved to suspend the rules to take up the bill to amend an act in relation to the Oriental Fish and Oyster Company. Rules suspended and the bill passed its second and third readings.

On motion of Mr. McGehee, the bill to incorporate the Wilmington, Raleigh & Roxboro R. R. Company, was taken up and passed its several readings.

JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.

EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

The public schools of Chicago are about to come into an estate valued at a million of dollars.

A cousin of President James Madison, 84 years of age, is in the Nashville, Tenn., poor-house.

The potato crop of Scotland occupies an area of 180,000 acres and is worth annually 24,000,000.

The present high price of coffee has driven many families in the South to fall back on the war substitutes, rye, potatoes, &c.

It is the opinion of the Attorney General of Pennsylvania that the Legislature of that State can repeal the Local Option law.

The substitution of steamers for sailing vessels in the transportation of emigrants has effected an immense savings in the matter of humane life.

Bismarck is Supreme Court in France. Through his order, the L'Univers, one of the ablest of the Paris journals, has been suppressed.

An exchange, referring to the women's movement in Massachusetts against the liquor dealers, heads the article "women and whiskey." The combination sounds rather queer.

The Norfolk Landmark claims Norfolk as the second cotton market in the United States, New Orleans alone being ahead of it. The receipts in Norfolk from the 25th of January to the 6th of February inclusive, were 36,240 bales, being 16,000 more for the same period than was received at Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia and Boston combined.

In a private note received by the St. Louis Times from Senator Boggs, under date of February 2, he says: "It is pretty well reduced to a certainty that the Louisiana Senators will not be admitted. The ordering a new election involves an exercise of power which the Democrats do not wish to assume. The result may, therefore, be, as the present Senators are refused admission, that the new Legislature, to be elected next fall, will have the power to do this."

HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS gave a splendid dinner at the National Hotel, Washington, on Wednesday, it being the anniversary of his sixty-second birthday. His guests were quite a number of personal friends. Thirteen years ago on Thursday Mr. Stephens was inaugurated Vice-President of the Southern Confederacy.

THE 32nd number of Our Living and Our Dead is to hand, containing its usual amount of interesting war records. This effort of Col. Poot to collect the history of North Carolina and the doings of her soldiers during the late war should receive the hearty encouragement of the people of the whole State. The paper is published at Newbern at $2 per annum.

WE ARE continually in receipt of communications, some upon subjects of public interest, which we are compelled to reject on account of their great length and verbosity. In some cases these contributions find their way unread into the waste basket, as it is impossible for the editor of a daily journal, in view of his other duties, to undertake the task of cutting down such matter to a reasonable length for use. It would be well, therefore, for all persons who want their communications published to study conciseness of style and employ as few words as possible in the expression of their ideas.

BROTHER EVANS, of the Milton Chronicle, produces the following excellent hit, which we find no trouble in endorsing and recommending to the general reader:

"Once in time—as tradition runs—there was an editor who undertook the job of crawling on his knees and publishing a newspaper that would please everybody and give offence to none. Not an article was to appear in it, at any time, the least objectionable to any of its readers. So to work he went—asking this man and that what he thought of the propriety of his copying such and such articles from others, and not daring to write an editorial article unless first calling a public meeting of the citizens of the Village to know what he must write about and how he must write it so as to please all and displease none. The result was the poor wretch, who humbly crawled upon his knees to please, got badly whipped and never issued a paper, for the reason that no half dozen of the citizens could agree on what ought and what ought not to be published."

The National Grange and a Declaration of Its Principles.

The National Grange, which has been in session in St. Louis, has put forth a declaration of the principles of the order and its objects, and as this movement is rapidly spreading throughout the whole country, we republish as a matter of interest to the general reader, other than the Grangers themselves, the resolutions adopted. They are as follows:

Profoundly impressed with the truth that the National Grange of the United States should definitely proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this declaration of the purposes of the Patron of Husbandry:

First. United by the strong and tried tie of agriculture, we mutually resolve to labor for the good of our Order, our country, our mankind.

Second. We heartily indorse the motto, "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity."

Third. We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects:

To develop better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves; to enhance the comforts and attractions of our home and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits;

to form mutual understanding and co-operation to maintain, inviolate, or help to stimulate each to labor; to listen the good time coming; to reduce expenses, both individual and co-operative; to buy less and produce more in order to make our farms self-sustaining; to diversify our crops and crop no more than we can cultivate; to condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more on the hoof and in fleece; to systemize our work and calculate intelligently on probabilities; to discomfit the credit system, mortgage system, fashion system, and every other system telling to prodigality and bankruptcy. We propose to act together for our mutual protection and thewean.

We shall constantly strive to secure entire harmony, good will and vital brotherhood among ourselves, and to make our order permanent. We shall earnestly endeavor to produce personal, local, sectional, and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry and all uncleanly ambition. Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our neutral, moral, social, and material advancements.

Fourth. We desire to bring producers and consumers, all farmers and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible. Hence we must dispense with the slanders of middle men. We wage no aggressive warfare against any other interests whatever. On the contrary, all our acts and all our efforts, as business is concerned, are not only for the benefit of the producers and consumers, but also for all other interests that tend to bring these two parties into steady and economical contact.

Hence we hold that transportation companies of every kind are necessary to our success, and their interests are intimately connected with ours. We must harmonize action in mutually advantageous keeping, in the first sentence in our declaration of principles of action, that individual happiness depends upon general prosperity. We shall, therefore, advocate for every State an increase, in every practicable way, of all facilities for transporting cheaply to the seaboard, or between home producer and consumers, all products of our country. We are not enemies of railroads, navigable or irrigating canals, nor of any corporations that will advance our industrial interests, nor of any laboring classes. In our whole order there is no communism and no aggression. We are opposed to monopoly and management of any corporation or enterprise as tends to oppress the people and rob them of their just profits. We are not enemies to capital, but we oppose tyranny of monopolies. We long to see the antagonism between capital and labor removed by common consent, and by enlightened statesmanship worthy of the nineteenth century.

We are opposed to excessive salaries, high rates of interest and exorbitant percentage profits in trade, as they greatly increase our burdens and do not bear the proper proportion to the proper profits of producers. We are in favor of the reduction and prevention of every true interest offered by legitimate transactions, legitimate trade and legitimate profits. We shall advance the cause of education ourselves, and for our children, by all just means within our power. We especially advocate for our agricultural and industrial colleges that practical agriculture, domestic science and all arts which adorn home be taught in their courses of study.

Fifth. We emphatically and sincerely assert the oft-repeated truth taught in our organic law that the grange—national, State, or subordinate—is not a political organization. No grange, if true to its obligation, discourses political questions, nor call political conventions, nor nominate candidates, nor even discuss their merits in its meetings. Yet the principles we teach underlie all true politics and all true statesmanship, and if properly carried out will tend to purify the whole political atmosphere of our country.

We seek the greatest good to the greatest number, but we must always bear in mind that no one becoming a Grange member gives up that inalienable right and duty which belongs to every American citizen, to take a proper interest in the politics of his country. On the contrary, it is right for every member to do all in his power legitimately to influence for good the action of every political party to which he belongs by nature of our organization, not because they are professional men or artisans or laborers, but because they have not sufficiently direct interest in tilling or pasturing the soil, or may have some interest in conflict with our purposes. But we appeal to all good citizens for their cordial co-operation to assist us in our efforts toward reform, that we may eventually remove from our midst the last vestige of tyranny and corruption.

Sixth. Ours being peculiarly a farmers' institution, we cannot admit all to our ranks; many are excluded.

Seventh. It shall be an abiding principle with us to relieve any of our oppressed and suffering brotherhood by any means at our command.

Last, but not least, we proclaim it among our purposes to inculcate proper appreciation of the abilities and sphere of woman, by admitting her to membership and position in our order. Imploring continued assistance of our Divine Master to guide us in this work, we here pledge ourselves to faithful and harmonious labor for all future time to return by our united efforts to the wisdom, justice, fraternity and political purity of our forefathers.

A memorial to the Patrons of Husbandry in the cotton States was also adopted. It is an argument in favor of mixed husbandry in the South instead of expending the energies of the people in raising single crops. It says: During the past seven years our cotton fields have added to the wealth of the world two thousand millions of dollars, and caused prosperity to smile upon every one who has handled out the cotton which was struggled for its production annually. The energies of the cotton planter were then exhausted in attempting to produce a maximum crop of a single staple, while quite as frequently he has reduced his means in supplying his necessary wants.

A system, based upon such a policy, and producing such results, must be radically wrong, and if persisted in, will lead to bankruptcy and ruin. No people can ever become prosperous who are not self-sustaining. Our fertile soil, extensive mineral wealth, abundant water power and general salubrious climate avail us nothing if annually we expend our surplus for subsistence. It is generally conceded that home-grown bread is cheaper than purchased supplies, and the observation of every planter is that those Southern farmers who live

The cotton raisers in Rowan county are now said to be buying corn.

Some 767 bales of cotton were shipped from Egypt depot during last year.

The lodge of Good Templars at Hickory Tavern numbers 115 members.

The Friends of Temperance of Fayetteville are going to establish a library.

Two hundred and thirty-two bales of cotton were sold in the Charlotte market on Wednesday.

Granville county issues 28 marriage licenses during the month of January, and 262 during the year 1873.

A curiosity in the shape of a white partridge astonished Fayetteville a few days ago. It sold for 50 cents in silver.

In Charlotte, on Wednesday, bonds of the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad sold for 72 cents on the dollar.

Three negroes were put in the jail at Lumberton for burglarizing the house of an old darkey in Alfordsville township, Robeson county.

The Times says that the fish business in Newbern is getting to be a monopolized and centralized ring business.

The Wilmington papers have utterly exhausted the language of compliment in puffing and blowing about Katie Putnam.

Two negro thieves were captured a few nights ago in attempting to rob the store of Col. John W. Cunningham, Person county.

The Odd-Fellows of Wilmington gave a grand ball on Tuesday evening, complimentary to Mr. Charles Schenck, Noble Grand of Cape Fear Lodge.

A petition has been sent to the Post Office Department at Washington, asking that the old mail route from Madison to Martin's Lime Kiln be re-opened.

Jesse J. Casydor, of Wilmington, has been appointed United States Commissioner for the Eastern District of North Carolina and has qualified.

The people of Sassafras Fork, Granville county, want to change the name of their postoffice, and have petitioned the P. O. Department at Washington to this effect.

A Digger Indian girl received on New Year's day in a redingote, consisting of an old army overcoat, and her dazzling neck was encircled by a string of tomato cans.

John Scott, col., tried at the recent term of the Cumberland Superior Court for the murder of his brother, Council Scott, has been sentenced to five years in the Penitentiary.

A. A. McIver has been elected Mayor of Jonesboro, and Messrs. H. S. Cole, R. G. Bryan, S. H. Buchanan, D. J. Shields and Dr. J. McIver, Commissioners. At the same election, Mr. John Godfrey was chosen Constable.

Says the Salisbury Watchman of the 12th inst.:

"A distressing accident occurred about 8 o'clock last evening at Harrieville depot, between Charlotte and Concord. Harrisburg is the point at which the Northern bound mail train and the express train coming to Charlotte meet and pass. The Northern bound train arriving there first, backed on a side track to allow the express to pass; and while doing this, man who had secured himself on the trucks of the sleeping car, fell off, and the wheels passing over him, crushed him to death. By the time parties discovered the accident, and got to him, he was perfectly dead. No one present knew him, and though his pockets were searched for the purpose, no clue to his identity could be found. It is supposed that he got on the trucks at Charlotte, thinking to steal a ride, and having become thoroughly enfiled, lost his hold and fell off."

In London there is a safe-deposit company whose vaults are sunk to a depth of fifty feet below the surface of the street, and from four stories, connected by a hydraulic lift, and rest on a concrete bed, fifteen feet in thickness. The walls are built of fireproof Staffordshire bricks a yard in thickness, with an inner shell of chilled steel three inches thick. The whole is inclosed in an outer wall of Sussex bricks, ten feet thick. The stories above the ground floor will be used as offices.

A charivari party which waited upon a newly married pair in Crawford county, Penn., the other night, with the usual aggravating music, were much surprised to be asked in and invited by the fair hostess to partake of cake and cider. After drinking the health of the hospitable bride a great many times the minstrels began to feel uncomely queer. There was in that elder something which is usually purchased of the apothecaries. Epsom salts in fact!

M. Lachaud, who defended Marshal Bazaine on his trial, has declined to take any fee, and the ex-Emperor Eugenie has sent him a present as a souvenir of the affair. The Queen of Spain has assumed the costs of the trial, and has offered to provide for the education of Bazaine's children.

All the States North of Virginia have enacted laws and adopted measures for restocking their streams with fish by artificial propagation, protecting the fish from murderous devices at certain seasons, by stringent penal provisions.

THE COTTON COUSE.

Devoted to the best interests of the State of North Carolina—to the success of the conservative party, the development of our country, and the inviting emigration into our midst, and advancement of the welfare of our people in every way.

The Northern bound mail train and the express train coming to Charlotte meet and pass. The Northern bound train arriving there first, backed on a side track to allow the express to pass; and while doing this, man who had secured himself on the trucks of the sleeping car, fell off, and the wheels passing over him, crushed him to death. By the time parties discovered the accident, and got to him, he was perfectly dead. No one present knew him, and though his pockets were searched for the purpose, no clue to his identity could be found. It is supposed that he got on the trucks at Charlotte, thinking to steal a ride, and having become thoroughly enfiled, lost his hold and fell off."

In London there is a safe-deposit company whose vaults are sunk to a depth of fifty feet below the surface of the street, and from four stories, connected by a hydraulic lift, and rest on a concrete bed, fifteen feet in thickness. The walls are built of fireproof Staffordshire bricks a yard in thickness, with an inner shell of chilled steel three inches thick. The whole is inclosed in an outer wall of Sussex bricks, ten feet thick. The stories above the ground floor will be used as offices.

A charivari party which waited upon a newly married pair in Crawford county, Penn., the other night, with the usual aggravating music, were much surprised to be asked in and invited by the fair hostess to partake of cake and cider. After drinking the health of the hospitable bride a great many times the minstrels began to feel uncomely queer. There was in that elder something which is usually purchased of the apothecaries. Epsom salts in fact!

M. Lachaud, who defended Marshal Bazaine on his trial, has declined to take any fee, and the ex-Emperor Eugenie has sent him a present as a souvenir of the affair. The Queen of Spain has assumed the costs of the trial, and has offered to provide for the education of Bazaine's children.

All the States North of Virginia have enacted laws and adopted measures for restocking their streams with fish by artificial propagation, protecting the fish from murderous devices at certain seasons, by stringent penal provisions.

HOUSE.—Unimportant.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Congressional Proceedings.—WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—SENATE.—Sargent presented a memorial signed by 16,658 citizens of California, calling the attention of Congress to the influx of Chinese on the Pacific slope. He said there were sixty thousand Chinese near the Pacific Coast; they underbid native labor; they imported no value to the community; they were pagans; they evinced no desire to become assimilated to our institutions; there had been one or two instances known where one of them had expressed a desire to become Americans. They added nothing to the material wealth of the community, taking away with them all that they accumulated, and not even allowing their bones to rest on American soil. This was a question which did not now concern the States East, but it would soon become a national question, for the Pacific coast was the gateway through which these people would pour and finally spread over the whole country. The memorial was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Goldswhite presented a memorial from the Mobile Board of Trade for importation of silk. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Gordon introduced a bill in relation to certain claims arising from the seizure of cotton by the Treasury Department. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The resolution offered a few days ago by Bayard calling upon the President to inform the Senate as to the conduct of Maj. Lewis Merrill an officer of the army on duty in South Carolina was taken up and discussed by Bayard and Scott.

Bayard during his remarks referred to the fact that many members of the South Carolina legislature were ignorant, not being able to read and write.

West of La., inquired of the gentlemen whose fault that was.

Bayard said the gentleman asked that question now, but there were periods in his life when he could answer it, having lived in the community under the laws and in sympathy with those who were charged with preventing the colored people from receiving education.

The morning hour having expired the distribution of currency was resumed.

McLemore and Gordon participated in the debate.

HOUSE.—Half dozen private bills were passed. A bill for appointing a Commissioner to ascertain damages committed in Oregon and California in 1872-'3 during the Modoc war, occasioned a lively debate, but was finally rejected.

FOREIGN.

The Election in England.—LONDON, Feb. 13.—Up to this morning 325 Conservatives and 282 Liberals and Home Rulers have been elected to the new Parliament. Two hundred and eighty-three Conservatives have been elected in England alone. In Scotland the Liberals have a majority of 25, and the Home Rulers are 26 ahead of the Conservatives in Ireland. There was a serious riot yesterday near the town of Stonyford, in Worcestershire. The police were unable to quell the disturbance and called upon the military, who dispersed the rioters. A number of persons were injured.

A Memorial Monument to Professor Agassiz.

BOSTON, Feb. 13.—At a meeting of prominent citizens to-day, it was proposed to make the Museum of Zoology at Cambridge erect a memorial monument to Prof. Agassiz. In order to do this it was resolved to raise the sum of $300,000 to complete its endowment.

The Committee of Thirty was appointed to receive subscriptions, and before the close of the meeting they announced that $65,000 had been subscribed.

Stedman, Democrat, Elected President of the Ohio Constitutional Convention.

TALENT, O., Feb. 13.—Election held in Lucas county yesterday for a successor to Chief Justice Waite in the Constitutional Convention resulted in the choice of General James B. Stedman, independent Democrat, over Wm. Barber, regular Republican.

The Whisky War in Ohio.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 13.—The whisky war continues with farcical fury. At Shely, Ohio, one hundred ladies were grossly insulted on the street by asoloon kesper. At New Holland, they were assaulted by a asoloon keeper with a poker.

The English Election.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Conservatives yesterday elected 15 members and the Liberals 11.
